

The Festival represents such a unique and rare possibility to explore and live chamber music in an inspiring and open environment.

I am infinitely grateful for everything I have discovered, shared, played and experienced in Thy Chamber Music Festival 2025 edition. On top of everything, I feel so lucky for the unique and special people I met there: in a very multicultural environment, everyone so different but so similar in the open approach to others, united by the love for chamber music and its deep values. We had the privilege to live together for two weeks in a beautiful place, eating delicious food made with the most special care from a generous and exceptional team of volunteers. The entire organization has been perfect, they planned every rehearsal, concert, transfer so well that our life has been super easy, being able to focus deeply on music.

I've learned so much playing amazing music from the great repertoire, exchanging ideas and interpretations with experienced and young professionals, who represent bright and inspiring examples also outside the music context.

Surrounded by kindness and generosity of people, the beauty of the nature, the enthusiasm and the energy of everyone, it has been such an inspiring journey on a musical and human level "
